Yesterday morning, at the opening of the Court, Mr. Chinton stated that from the understanding on the last day of the examination, this case was to be adjourned over, provided the examination, this case was to be adjourned over, provided the examination, this case was to be adjourned over, provided the examination, this case was to be adjourned over, provided the examination of the opening the would go on, as the prosecution and defense were both say it would go on, as the prosecution and defense were both say it would go on, as the prosecution and defense were both say it would go on, as the prosecution and defense where both say it would go on, as the prosecution of the Under such circumstances the counsel of Mrs. Canningham needed all the time that could be spared from other engagements to get ready for that trial, and they could not possibly devote any time to the present case.

considerable, be hoped, if the Surrogate concluded to sujour the case, it would not be before these witnesses had been examined.

The Surrogate remarked that he was informed by the District Atterney that the criminal trial would begin on Monday, but was dispected to allow these witnesses to be examined.

Judge Dean claimed that he had notised Mr. Tilden on Saturaday last that the trial would go on on Monday, and furthermore, it would hardly be the thing that testimeny on a certain point should be introduced just before the criminal trial, and no opportunity be afforded them to answer it. He was engaged to go found the examination of the examination of the examination of the examination.

Mr. Edwards expressed his belief that Mr. Clinton and his exactiate were stready prepared for the criminal trial, and he heped, therefore, that these witnesses might be examined. The Surrogate took the same view in reference to the examination.

Mr. Clinton said the case would have to go on then without counsel to represent his client, as Judge Dean must positively go to Pouphkeepsie, and he felt bound to devote every moment of his time to preparing for the criminal trial.

The Surrogate fook the same view in reference he case, as that had been the understanding, although he would prefer to take the testimony of witnesses from a distance, if the counsel for Mrs. Cunningham could find time to attend to it. He had promised not to force these parties into a disposition of the examination of the same of the surrogate said he would grant an indefinite postponement, and as soon as the criminal trial should be determined, he would incifyon hext Monday.

The Surrogate said he would grant an indefinite postponement, and as soon as the criminal trial should be determined, he would incify the surrogate said he would grant an indefinite postponement, and as soon as the criminal trial should be determined.

DECISIONS IN ADMIRALTY—OOLLISION.

William H. Sears vs. the Bark Arcadian.

This was a tibel filed by the owner of the schooner Champion to recover the damages occasioned to her by a collision with the Arcadian, which occurred in broad daylight, on the 25th day of August, 1855, some six or eight miles of Little Egg Harbor. The weather was mild, but both vessels were in a crippled condition—the Champion from a gale, and the Arcadian from sixhness on board. Both parties substantially agree as to the condition and course of the two vessels.

Held by the Court—That there was oulpable remissness in the Arcadian in Reeping under way with full sail without a watch an deck, as no signal or notice was given to the Champion that bet crew were disabled by sixhness.

That the Champion was correctly navigated on the state of facts made known to her.

Decree for libelant with a reference to ascertain the damages. For libelant, Mr. Cutting; for claimant, Messrs. Beebe, Dean and Donohue.

COLLISION—JOINT NEGLIGENCE OF SHIP AND STEAM TUG.

Herman Boyer agt. The ship Wisconsin and the steaming Hector.

This was a libel filed by the owner of the lighter Republic to recover the damages occasioned by a collision. On the 18th day of October, about noon, the lighter, with part of a cargo of fiour, was making for the dock at the foot of Dover street. The tide was nearly or just at the turn of the flood, and there was little or no wind, as the libelant claimed; and he alleged that the lighter had come up the East River on the flood tide, and with her sweeps out was working in to the dock, when the ship towed alongside of the steamer coming in to the same pier, ran into her, the bowept of the ship striking the top of the lighter's mast, and careening her over so that her foour rolled out and she filled and sunk. The claimants alleged that the headway of the tow was stopped, but the lighter coming under a fresh breaze, ran against the ship and tipped over by her own-anotion.

by her own motion.

Held by the Court—That upon the whole evidence the libelant has supported the came of action set up in his pleading and outweighed the facts alleged by the claimants.

The two vessels were guilty of a violation of the rules imposed on them by the law. The offense was a common one—the two vessels being lashed together and moved by the entine of the tug, and the blow being given by the ship. Her master was also in command of the course of navigation pursued. They were accordingly jointly responsible for the loss sustained by the Whelant.

Decree condemning both vessels for the damages, with a reference to secretain the damages.

For libelant, Messrs, Benedict, Burr & Benedict; for the ship, Messrs, Williams & Barnard and Mr. Owen; for the tug, Messrs, Martin & Smiths and Mr. Donohue.

The Delaware and Hudson Canal Co. agt. The steamboat Alida.

This was a suit brought to recover the value of conicuplied to the steamer at Rondout.

Held by the Court, That a delivery of the coal on the wharf alongside or near the vessel, by order of her officers, was tantamount to a delivery on board. So as to create the lien, it is not necessary that the coal should be ultimately consumed on board, nor in fact be placed within or upon the vessel. It is sufficient if the whole lot was purchased by the vessel and put in her possession, to be used as she required it in her mavigation.

That the law indicates no different rule in respect to the lien, whether the supply, after it has gone to and been received by the ship as part of her furnishment, remains permanently with her, or is put on shore again, or even not hosted into the vessel.

A decree was readered in this case for the libelants, but a decision of the United States Supreme Court, at the last term.

DECISIONS IN REVENUE CASES.

Judge Hall has sent down decisions in the following revenue cases heard before him when he was last here:

EXCESS OF DUTIES—CIGARS—VALUE IN INVOICE A FRAND UPON THE IMPORTER.

Benjamin H. Lillie et al agt. Heman J. Redfield.

This was an action brought to recover back a certain excess of duties exacted by the defendant as Collector of this part upon certain entries of cigars of various brands. The cigars had been purchased under a contract, and were invoiced as of the 1st. 2d and 3d grades, and the duties were paid or deposited on the valuation in the invoice. On examining them, however, it was found that they had been fraudulently invoiced, those of the 2d grade being invoiced as of the let, and those of the 3d are and the Guerament appraisers, when the matter was called to their attention, determined that the fact was so, and that the invoice should be reduced accordinally—and the plaintiffs claimed that the duties should be assessed on the reduced valuation. The Collector was apparently willing to correct the error, if he could do so with the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury. The matter was in negotiation for some time till that authority was refused, and after that the entries were adjusted and liquidated.

Held by the Court. That there was sufficient evidence of a fread upon the importers, by a misslescription of the goods in the invoices, and that when the fraud was discovered it was the frend upon the importers, by a mississcription of the goods in the invoices, and that when the fraud was discovered it was the duty of the Collector to have corrected the assessment of duties accordingly. The grades are matters of description. That under the case of Marriott agt. Brune, the protest was made in time.

Judgment for the plaintiffs upon the verdict. The amount to be adjusted at the Custom House.

For plaintiffs, Mr. McCulloh; for defendant, Mr. McKeon.

SUFFICIENCY OF PROTEST-ROSEWOOD FURNITURE.

SUFFICIENCY OF PROTEST—ROSEWOOD FURNITURE.

George Pensot agt. Cornelius W. Lawrence.

This was an action to recover back duties alleged to have been illegally exacted by the defendant as a collector. A verdict was taken for the plaintiff for $1,500, subject to the epinion of the Court. Theonly question was as to the efficiency of the protests. There were five entries of goods. The first one embraced "rosewood and mabogany furniture, common "wood furniture, rosewood farniture, and silk and worsted goods." The protest annexed is "against paving 40 per cent "duty on rosewood farniture, as specified in his entry, believing it should pay 30 per cent as cabinet furniture." The other entries and protests are similar.

it should pay 30 per cent as caloned turnature.

Lifes and protests are similar.

Held by the Court—That these protests related to a specific article embraced in the entries. "Reservood firmiture" is a well-known and specific term, and the protests cannot be extended beyond what is properly and specifically embraced with in them. Furniture of other woods, silk and worsted goods and furniture of reservood and common wood and reservood and makingsay together, must be excluded from their operation. Judgment for plaintiff, for the sum appearing to be due on these principles—the amount to be ascertained by adjustment at the Costom-House, or as the parties may otherwise prefer.

For plaintiff, Mr. McCallioh; for defendant, Mr. McKeon.

UIT IN EQUITY-REDELIVERY BOND AND FORFEIT-

CHE-JURISDICTION.

Alexander Popell et al. vs. Heman J. Redfield and John McKeen.

Alexander Popell et al. vs. Heman J. Redfield and John McKeen.

This was a bill in equity filed to compel the defendants to elect to prosecute one of two actions, now pending in the United States District Court, and to abandon the other. The defendants demurred to the bill, and the denurrer and the motion for a preliminary injunction were argued together.

The first suit in the District Court is upon a redelivery bond in a penulty of $20,000, the entry of the goods being indorsed as of the estimated value of $3,337 only. The bond was taken under the 4th section of the act of May 28, 1830.

The other suit is brought to forfeit the same goods, which were $2 casks of hides and two casks of skivers, for undervaluation.

Held by the Court—That it is not certain that the whole penalty of the bond could be recovered, but if it could, that right is a strict legal right, and this Court has no power to remit or mitigate any forfeiture. The extent of the recovery is a question rather for the District Court, from whose decision the mather than the court is the annual or the court of the recovery is a question rather for the District Court, from whose decision the mather than the court is a second or the court of the court her can be brought up by appeal.

That, if the goods have not been seized, they cannot be forested in the second suit unless the plaintiffs, by giving a bond, or by their form of pleading, or omission of pleading in that suit have precluded themselves from denying it. But if this has occurred their proper remedy is by application to the District Court.

Invoice is furfeited, there is no power in the Court', o restrain the forfeiture; and if it is not, this Court is bound ', o presume that the District Court will so determine. That even if there could be a recovery in both mits, this Court would have no power to interfere, and the plaintiff's only, remarkly would be by an application to the Secretary of the emedy would be 22.

We hear of about a million in gold bars engaged for the steamer of Wednesday, which is a larger shipment than was anticipated. Meanwhile the Aspinwall steamer is telegraphed from New-Orleans as having a million and a half on board which is probably one of the usual New-Orleans exaggerations. We shall be agreeably disappointed if she brings over a million

There was some increased activity in Money to-day among the brokers, occasioned by the calling in of loans by bankers, who have gold and bills to pay for to-morrow. The supply, however, was sufficient for all wants. Bank officers do not anticipate any important change in Money matters for the next sixty or ninety days. They assume that the drain of gold for foreign shipment will be fully met by the California deliveries, added to the receipts from the interior and the disbursements from the Sub-Treasury. The payments for Customs until July will be light, and th balance in the Treasury considerably reduced. It is understood that our Banks could now, if necessary, draw a million of dollars of coin from neighboring cities money in the hands of importers, the bulk of which is employed on call.

Speculation is mostly confined to Copper-Mining shares, from some of which the accounts are unusually favorable. Pewabic advanced to 7 on Saturday, and Isle Royale was a little firmer. Copper Falls jumped up to 14 on the strength of a telegraphic dispatch reporting the discovery of a mass of 50 tuns in the old Copper Falls vein. If this intelligence is confirmed—and but little doubt of its accuracy is raised—it is possible that another extraordinary development may be chronicled in the mining districts of Lake Superior. For the sake of the Copper Falls hareholders, who have been heavy sufferers, in the decline of their stock from $53 to $5, in addition to quite a number of assessments, we trust the reported discovery may prove but the beginning of entire success. Such a result in a mine which had been almost given up as hopeless, or at least extremely doubtful, would infuse new courage among the shareholders in many concerns whose operations. at least extremely doubtful, would infuse new courage among the share holders in many concerns whose operations have hitherto been successful, and will encourage to new efforts and explorations. If the Copper Falls succeeds there is hope for the Toltec and kindred mines. The Isle Royale product for March was 26 tuns, of which 16 tims was in stamp work, and the balance barrel and mass copper. The Pewabic is producing well, in small masses of from 800 to 1,000 tounds.

Europe:

New York, Thesday, April 28, 1357.

The upward tendency which was beginning to be felt at the close of our previous advices of 20th inst., was of but short duration. On the 22d the shares of Eric, Michigan Southern, and Cleveland and Toledo Railroads, recommenced falling, touching at one time if for the tree; and 60/264 for the others (the closing questations, however, show a recovery of 32 P cent on Michigan Southern, and 61 on Cleveland and Toledo). Other stocks, without having experienced such marked fluctuations, have been affected by the depression on these scourities, and in the majority of them there is a decline.

Money continues easy, without change in rates.

The purchases of our securities for European account, during the month of April, with the exception of a few City Bonds, have been almost hill.

State Stocks dull, excepting Virginia, Missouri and California; Missouri $45,000 to $50,000 sold at 53 to 32; Virginia $69,000 at 92.891. Other States without sales.

City and County Bonds very quiet. A few Milwankes ? P Cents and Cheago & have been taken at previous prices.

Transactions in Rairoad Bonds unimportant. About $60,000 lillinois Central Bonds have been sold at 94,009; Eric, 1871, have sold at 79, and closed at 76, being a decline of 24 cent. since previous quotations. Other Bonds have been sold in retail tots with small closed at 76, being a decline of 24 cent.

Europei:

New Yoax, Twesday, April 2, 197.

The upward tendency which was beginning to be able to the control of the control o than they are here; and some who have tried the market, have taken out their horses, either to return home, or sell to farmers along the road. Unfortunately, the market is overstocked with horses of low value, if not of low price. We should say that about one-quarter of all in the street last week might have been sold here half a dozen years ago, to better advantage to all parties; and some of them ten years ago, when horses were low-priced, would have sold for more than they are worth to-day. Not that they are old-horses are never over six years old-but they are not valuable, and some of them will not sell.

A class of horses that are really worth from $250 to $500 each are the ones that are most salable, and there are quite a number of that class is market. Such for instance as a pair we noticed from Vermont; six years old, 16 hands high, black color, mane and tails long, strong built, and sound, but not very fast or fancy fine, though well matched in appearance. These were held at $600. A good fair driving roadster is werth about $300; and a pair of good strong wagon horses $500 to $600. As for fancy horses, anywhere from a thousand to $2,500 is the asking price. But whenever we hear of a sale of a pair at a thousand or more, we are always disposed to ask how much the small buildeg was valued at that was taken in part

The number of horses in all the stables between Lexington and Second avenues has been regularly taken since 1852, on the 24th day of April, by Mr. C. Shepard, from whom we have obtained the following NUMBER OF HORSES IN MARKET ON A GIVEN DAY.

These figures may be taken as the fair average number in market during the busy season of Spring. In the three great stables of Macauley, Post and Cham good as it was last year, and that will turn the heads of some men and many horses this way.
